Education and Experience There is a delicate balance between the growth in Hopkinton's residential and commercial communities. As a member of the planning board, I look forward to the challenge of finding this balance through further exploring Hopkinton's built and natural environments. As an architect and member of the Historic District and Zoning Advisory Committee I have been on both sides of using and writing codes for both residential and commercial occupancies and understand how they impact people at the individual and community level.

Professionally, I am a sole practitioner. My architecture business is based in Hopkinton. I have been a Hopkinton resident for 20 years and have been on the Historic District and Zoning Advisory committees.
